of the Student Body of
Mary Washington College
Fredericksburg, Virginia*

Dedication

WITH the realization that we are still very young in heart and in experience; with the knowledge that within their counsel there is yet peace, and love, and a deeper, calmer faith for us to seek--we gratefully dedicate this, the 1941 Battlefield, to our parents.

We set the background

THIS is a book to be read between its lines . . .

There is no theme; it is for you to supply your own. It is your story, for you to interpret as you will.

We set the background—for just as every play must have its scene, so every story must have its setting. We offer you as background for your story the buildings of your college—the buildings in which you work, and play, and dream of things beyond their walls—of what the future years will bring.

It has been a privilege to make this book for you. In return, we ask but one thing of you who will read it. Make it a personal book—read yourself into it. Whether it be today, or twenty years from now, if you read, and remember, and see in retrospect some small part of your years of life, we will not have worked in vain.

CROSSING THE BAR

*Sunset and evening star,
And one clear call for me!
And may there be no moaning of the bar,
When I put out to sea,*

*But such a tide as, moving, seems asleep,
Too full for sound and foam—
When that which drew from out the boundless deep
Turns again home.*

*Twilight and evening bell,
And after that the dark!
And may there be no sadness or farewell,
When I embark;*

*For though from out our bourne of Time and place
The flood may bear me far—
I hope to see my Pilot face to face
When I have crossed the bar.*

THE Glee Club is an outstanding choral organization on the campus. Membership is limited to seventy members who are selected by the director after a private audition. In selecting members the following requirements are considered: voice quality, singing ability, general musicianship, responsibility, and personality.

An intensive study is made of the best sacred and secular works, covering a wide variety of styles. Each spring one fine sacred program is presented. The Glee Club Christmas Carol program is one of the outstanding events of the College year.

Members are given the opportunity of doing work with the large group, solo work, and small vocal ensembles. Joint concerts will be given during the year with two men's glee clubs. Programs are given each year on the campus, in some of the churches, and in the community of Fredericksburg.

Mary Washington Players

"ASBESTOS! . . . Lower your house! . . . Feet up! . . . Curtain! . . ." and another play is on its way in the great auditorium of George Washington Hall.

Mary Washington's Players, nearly a hundred in number, to whom the smell of water paint is as sweet as the smell of grease paint; to whom the sound of hammer and saw is as exciting as the sound of an overture. Democratic? Yes—"Strike!" means only to clear the stage—faculty members and students alike are labor, and the public alone is capital.

Public acclaim is good, but other things linger longer in the hearts of the Mary Washington Players. They will remember best themselves wearing coveralls, slapping paint on flats . . . last-minute line cramming . . . Dr. Alvey in sideburns and beaver hat—Dr. Martin as "Briggs, solicitor" . . . scouring Fredericksburg for stageworthy antiques . . . climbs into the fly gallery . . . after-performance parties in the College Shoppe.

And Mary Washington playgoers will remember best a sophisticated "Royal Family" . . . a brilliantly tender "Jane Eyre" . . . a classic "Yellow Jacket."

It is Convocation; the student body sits hushed, as figures clad in cap and gown descend from the stage and move silently up the aisles, stopping at a row here and there . . . "Alpha Psi Omega wants you" . . . Magic words, these, to the Player who has worked faithfully—acting, building sets, understudying, directing, writing.

Thus has Eta Eta chapter of the national honorary dramatic fraternity increased its membership to twenty-five, including both faculty members and students. To the Player tapped for Alpha Psi Omega, the call comes as a signal honor, and, what is more—a challenge to continued fine contributive work in the theatre.

WHAT would Hollywood be without Nelson Eddy? What would station WFVA be without Johnny Autry? What would Mary Washington College be without Mr. Ronald Faulkner and his Dance Orchestra?

The fact is, Mary Washington just couldn't exist without this happy-go-lucky double sextet of musicians. "Ready, willing, and able" might well be their motto, and their fame is not restricted within the immediate boundaries of the college either.

They hear rhapsodies. What is more, they play them. With "Frenezzi" through "Night and Day" on "Blueberry Hill"—whether the occasion be for "Shadows on the Sand" or for a "Handful of Stars," or even for plain "Eloise"—the Dance Orchestra is always "My Buddy!"

Symphony Orchestra

MR. RONALD W. FAULKNER, Director

MARY WASHINGTON College is proud of its orchestra, for it is one of the leading musical organizations on the hill. Its success may be attributed largely to its director, Mr. Ronald W. Faulkner who has also done much to enlarge the membership over the first college orchestra of a few years ago.

During this age of modern music, the classical orchestra presents the music of the great master musicians, and for that reason the members of the orchestra are all advanced students in instrumental music. Their interest is twofold, for they not only derive the valuable experience of orchestral work, but in addition they learn the grandeur of the classical music of past ages.

The symphonic orchestra presents formal concerts, plays at chapel, at convocation, at college plays, and at many more college and local entertainments which occur during the college year. For those who believe that all modern youth have gone jitter-bug crazy, M.W.C.'s orchestra gives ample testimony as to the contrary.

It is said that a girl can't help loving the man in a uniform. So be it, but at Mary Washington, the "tables are turned," for the men can't fail to be captivated by the regimented charm displayed by the thirty-odd members of the Mary Washington College marching band . . . adorned in their white boots and their snappy blue and white uniforms, topped by gay caps.

First they walked; then they trudged; later they marched, and now . . . they march while they make music. Today, they are ready to challenge any "goosestepping outfit" that wants to take them on—and you'd better watch out for your laurels—for, though not yet a year old, M.W.C.'s band already has several honors to its credit.

Listen! Can't you just hear them now as they "strike up the band" to "Let's Raise a Cheer for Mary Washington . . ."

WHAT joy there is in meeting together when one may babble in the words of another language! At least, that is the attitude of the members of Le Cercle Français. It's surprising, too, that those who at the first meetings do no more than babble, later, become more spontaneous in their conversations and experience that pleasing glow which accompanies the using of French words that have two, perhaps even three, syllables.

Joking aside, though, the members of Le Cercle Français do more than chatter together; they attempt to enrich the study of the French language itself by acquainting themselves with the fascinations of French music, the interesting and original character of French literature, as well as with the customs and traditions that linger in the cities and villages throughout France. From Le Cercle Français the girls acquire a sense of kinship, not with the stifled, crushed France of today, but with that former gayety and delicate charm so typical of the spirit of France. In the hearts of these girls, at least, the words "Vive la France" are immortal.

INDICATIVE of a reassuring Pan-Americanism is Mary Washington's newly formed Spanish Club. Its members are students from Cuba, from the United States, from Puerto Rico. Its activities—a Spanish Christmas program; assisting students in conversational Spanish; its weekly "Esquina Español" in the Bullet—all are directed toward the achieving and maintaining of an even deeper fellowship between girls of the Americas.

ON Visitors' Day at the Seminary, grandmother, tense and blushing, declaimed on the vices of alcohol. Today granddaughter prepares herself to be a poised, efficient career woman by training herself in public speaking.

To its members, Pi Sigma Kappa offers training in speech and opportunities to use this training in practical situations. Interclub debates have paved the way to a successful season of debates with other colleges. The verse choir has delighted Mary Washington students with new interpretations of poetry. Pi Sigma Kappa members have spoken, and spoken well, in many and varied campus activities.

Pi Sigma Kappa's program is not confined to activities taking place from the rostrum or before the microphone. Picnics, banquets, and informal meetings are scenes of extemporaneous speaking by both members and sponsors. Hobby of the club is collecting pictures and articles which illustrate proper and improper public speaking procedure. To members who have been outstanding in the club and who have been of forensic service to other organizations, the reward is a gold Pi Sigma Kappa key.

Freshman Class Memories

STARRING

A cast of seven hundred—the largest number of Freshmen ever to be enrolled in Mary Washington.

OVER one thousand strange, unfamiliar but friendly faces . . . Y.W.C.A. girls ready to make an ill-at-ease freshman feel at home . . . A welcome party at the outdoor swimming pool, cider and doughnuts—our introduction to the A.A. . . . Talks by Dr. Combs, Dr. Alvey, Mrs. Bushnell, and Miss Turman . . . Big sisters and a Kid party, feeling foolish and loving it . . . Freshman training with rules and rules . . . Election of class officers and Representative to Student Council (no more breaking of study hour?) Dances in Big Gym—German and Cotillion bids—lucky freshmen—they all had such a marvelous time—tea dances, buffet supper and all . . . The Red Hat . . . The Doll Show (how proud we were of our Commission) . . . The first fearful exams . . . Going home for Christmas—real college girls. Formal Student Government Reception (the first introduction for most of us to the entire Council and to the Hall of Mirrors) . . . Beauty contest . . . The house-coat party given by our sister class . . . A.A. Benefit . . . The first Mary Washington Proms—a chance to show off that new Christmas formal . . . Our hill-billy barn dance for the juniors . . . Freshman Carnival—more fun (and work) . . . May Day—the lovely Queen and her court . . . Black-robed seniors and commencement—we're one-fourth of the way there ourselves, now!

Doll Show

A WEEK or two before the Christmas holidays begin . . . a dozen or so large mysterious boxes make their appearance in the corridors of Willard and Virginia . . . behind the scenes at the biggest little show on campus . . . where a hundred freshmen work to make miniature scenes which Mary Washington girls will recognize—a dormitory room, Frank's, the pressing room on dance night—fairy tale settings, too—all to brighten Christmas for the children at Blue Ridge. Above, the winner of first prize.

Epaulet

"Not words, but thoughts and the manner of expressing them make literature."

THE Epaulet, literary magazine of the college, originated in November of 1940. This publication serves to stimulate interest in creative writing and self-expression among the members of the student body. A quarterly magazine, The Epaulet includes the original work of students in the field of the essay, of the short story, of the play, of poetry, and of art.

Matthew Fontaine Maury Science Club

WANTED: to find a second Marie Curie on the campus of M.W.C.!

Being women, members of the Science Club cannot hope to present another Matthew Fontaine Maury, but it is possible that a second Marie Curie may reside on our campus. If she does, then she surely is to be found in the Science Club to whose members current developments on the science frontiers are as captivating as the fashion plates of the daily newspaper.

For the girl who would rather watch hydra under the microscope than thrill at Clark Gable on the screen, or for the girl who likes to do both, the Science Club extends an "open-door policy."

Initiations, picnics, talks on the very amazing phases of science, and formal banquets—these comprise the club's activities, all of which are executed in a fine scientific style!

AN organization of long and honored standing on the Hill is Modern Portias. Junior and Senior majors and minors in English compose the club, whose monthly meetings, at which food and literary talk abound, have become Mary Washington tradition.

Traditional too are the yearly tea given by the Portias for Fredericksburg literati and the formal dance for the college student body. Highlight of this year's activities was the trip to the Washington premiere of "Twelfth Night."

Modern Portias will long recall with pleasure friendly debates on good literature from Shakespeare to Steinbeck . . . dinner parties with Dr. Shankle as toastmaster and chief musician . . . listening to the progress of "Old Sisters" . . . the first issue of The Epaulet.

When a Modern Portia graduates, she retains her membership in the club. Whether she return, to talk with Dr. Shankle in his green-and-tan office, or whether her fellowship be only a thing of memory, she is still a Modern Portia, and she possesses with her sisters a lifelong heritage: the knowledge that the study of literature is fine, that it is fun.

International Relations Club

Just as "charity begins at home" so international relations begin on one's own college campus. In the case of Mary Washington College, the International Relations Club, typical of similar organizations on other college campuses and financed by the Carnegie Endowment, offers itself as the chief agency through which fellowship between American students and foreign students may be fostered. Because this club does fulfill this function at Mary Washington, it maintains considerable prestige among members of the student body.

In addition to its regular meetings, the club sponsors a series of radio forums on current questions, sends representatives to several conferences, and presents a chapel and a convocation program. Yet, the benefits of the International Relations Club are more than material ones. Its members cannot fail to be broadened in outlook and in preparation for the diplomatic ventures which must someday be undertaken as the task of today's youth.

BLONDES, brunettes, and redheads, numbering thirty, started the year off with a bang at the first T.K.S. meetings of the season. Moonlight and shadows for setting, friendliness and gayety for background, hot dogs "with trimmings" for healthy appetites which do require more tangible properties than those of mere atmosphere—these were features typical of all Tau Kappa Sigma's activities.

T.K.S.'s new "hangout" on the hill is the recreation room in Frances Willard, where piano, study and game facilities, and happy environment serve members during out-of-class but on-campus hours.

Since T.K.S. this year included only permanent residents of Fredericksburg, the club has been rendered more compact, yet better able to maintain friendly relationships between local girls and out-of-town students. Members of Tau Kappa Sigma have found that every group may contribute to the happiness of every other club.

Ah, Margaret Lewis, with character

And dreams a dream of traveling afar.
And Alicia Pereira, a tall, pretty lass,
Will teach Spanish in her very own class.
Annette Page Warren, chosen Princess,

Alyce Bass will acquire much commercial

Student Government Association

“THE purpose of this organization shall be to promote personal responsibility, loyalty, and a high sense of honor in the individual—by inculcating the underlying principles of self-government and democracy”—democracy, which has become such an important word in the world’s vocabulary.

Being a democracy, Mary Washington has student government, government by the students collectively, through their elected representatives. Their representatives, the Council of 1941, have striven to create a democratic spirit, a sense of belonging which causes every girl to take pride in the highest standards of personal honor. It is because she wants to and not because she has to that the student accepts the responsibility both with regard to personal conduct and the conduct of others.

Believing that democracy flourishes in the sail of friendliness, Student Council has tried to bring the students closer together to feel a spirit of unity. Toward this goal name badges were worn for the first time by the freshmen. The Formal Reception and the Election Day Dance brought Council nearer its purpose.

In a year during which Democracy has been so severely challenged, Mary Washington students have been more fully aware of this priceless treasure they possess—student government. Yes, it is only a small rivet in the tremendous skyscraper of world democracy—but who can deny that it is these small rivets which hold the vast steel structure together?

WHAT is the first thing the newly arrived freshman finds on reaching our campus? It's the Bayonet! And she has only to leaf through the pages of this little book to find all sorts of interesting things. The Alma Mater—the Constitution of Student Government Association—the Honor System—Class cuts—Study hours—Dating rules—Church directory—and many clubs of which she may become a member. From this booklet the freshman learns for the first time the rules, regulations and something about the activities on the campus to which she has come.

ALPHA EPSILON is the name of M.W.C.'s chapter of this national honorary fraternity for commercial teachers. Only such august personages as juniors and seniors of the commercial education department are eligible for membership. Of those eligible, only the most deserving actually become members, for it is necessary to attain a really superior standing in all commercial subjects and average standing in other studies before one is sufficiently learned for Pi Omega Pi.

Of course, all members have deeply cherished ambitions of becoming successful career women, either in classrooms or in offices. The members of this organization should indeed be prepared to fulfill their dreams since the fraternity fosters interest in scholarship, in civic betterment of schools, and in high ethical standards to be observed in business and professional life.

COMMERCIAL education may be a bit on the practical side, but the members of the Alpha Chapter of Sigma Tau Chi are aware of the many and varied fields which offer opportunities to commercial students. The girls are aware further of the requirements of such fields which demand a well-rounded personality as prerequisite. For that reason, this organization encourages interest in affairs which are a little apart from those of actual commercial vocations. Specialists in various fields have addressed the club, but the main emphasis is upon personality development. Receptions, banquets, picnics—these are the outcome of the belief in that old saying that “all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy” and Mary a dull girl.

Junior Jingle

*Junior activities have been many, it's true,
But we'll bring only the highlights to you.
We were high school grads when we started in
With bag and baggage; new honors to win.*

*As freshmen we were carefree and gay;
Kept up with the others in some sort of way.
The next step up was our old Sophomore class—
But that soon passed by; and all too fast!*

*Then, full-fledged Juniors were we,
And life was no longer a meaningless spree.
Our goal was in sight, our determination firm,
To reach up, look forward, and help others to learn.*

*We were led by Nancy Mann, our President, this year—
Whose manner was pleasant, informal, sincere.
In our hearts Anne Abell will long be a resident,
For she too served well, as our Vice-President.*

*For Secretary, Marguerite Tuck was elected,
She made up proud that she was selected.
Our finances were heavy, our dues were all paid—
To Ruth Scarlett, we know, our thanks should be laid.*

*To advise these four girls and help all the rest,
Dr. Martin, we found, was by far the best—
His efforts untiring, his time always free—
To help better the Class and our M.W.C.*

*We had parties galore, but we'll never forget
The Beauty Contest—our class benefit.
Then, to climax the year and make it complete—
White dresses, class rings, the Prom—dancing feet.*

*Our standards were held high as we faced each new day,
Laughing and radiant, buoyant and gay;
But dependable, loyal, cooperative, true—
All these are the traits of the Class of '42.*

If little Jimmie or small Mary comes home from school jabbering, "My teacher is nice—I like her!" And if "teacher" is a graduate of Mary Washington College, then you can wager she was a member of Alpha Tau Pi, the elementary education society "on the Hill." Believing that a teacher must be, first of all, a person, this organization strives through its programs to assure for each future teacher of all the little Jimmies and Marys a well-rounded personality and high ideals of the profession in which she is engaged.

A member of Alpha Tau Pi recognizes her responsibility toward that society and toward the college she will represent afield, either as an apprentice or as a full-time teacher. Bonds of friendship formed in Alpha Tau Pi are remembered and retained long after its members have received the sacred "sheepskin."

THE MEMBERS: Phyllida Bien, Marjorie Burgess, Ellen Caldwell, Molly Case, Marjorie Mae Clapp, Ann Cooke, Lorraine Dove, Anne Givler, Alise Howerton, Elizabeth Kinsman, Arabelle Lawes, Nancy Litton, Nancy Mann, Josephine Reasor, Jamie Redwood, Marie Seay, Ruth Seay, Sylvia Chellgren, Gladys Smith, Martha Snead, Mary Unruh, Shirley Wingo.

HAIL to one of the largest student organizations on the Hill! Y.W. is as familiar as class cuts to every girl at M.W.C. They love Y.W. for its splendid cabinet, its worthwhile social service program, its fostering of good music, its "Pop" programs, its vesper, devotional, and chapel meetings, to say nothing of countless other features.

One of the latter is the annual "Kid Party" at which big and little "sisters" gather, clad in the kind of "regalia" that makes contest judges turn gray! Another such event is the Doll Show, which furnishes a good excuse for the pent-up energy of all those girls who still like to "play dolls," though they ordinarily restrain themselves along that line.

This year's big benefit was called "Y's a Poppin!" (Modelled after a Broadway Show of similar title.) Y.W.'s show was judged even funnier than its prototype; the jokes were all on the colleagues of M.W.C.!

Fellowship—both social and spiritual—is the keyword with which to describe the Y.W. C.A. One means of accomplishing all that "fellowship" implies was furnished this year by the Religious Emphasis Week, sponsored by Y.W. Interesting and prominent speakers participated in several programs during which the values of "Religion and Reality" were emphasized with regard to effective, happy living.

The well-known "white and blue" of Mary Washington's Y.W. signifies wholesome pleasure in social and spiritual experiences.

The Bullet

PRINTER'S ink, copy paper, last minute runs to town for that one late ad, and a little burning of the midnight oil with a few gray hairs thrown in, all help to make up The Bullet, the college newspaper.

The Bullet is composed of a large staff including reporters, feature writers, advertising and business staffs, all working together to put out a finished product on Friday night. Then an efficient circulation staff delivers it promptly to the waiting student body.

The Bullet "covers" all of the campus news, including stories of clubs, classes, students, and faculty, and naturally the fondest ambition of every staff member is to come through ever so often with a sensational "scoop." Students who are brave enough to submit pieces of creative writing to the scrutiny of Bullet "re-writers" are rewarded by seeing their poems, editorials, and columns in print.

A member of the associated college press, the Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association, and distributors of the Collegiate Digest. The Bullet is published every other week. This year M.W.C. delegates to the V.I.P.A. Convention at Blacksburg walked off proudly with first honors for newspapers in Class B.

True to the spirit of competition which characterizes all newspapers, The Bullet enjoys vying with other organizations on the hill in presenting annual benefits which combine hilarious fun with replenishment of the treasury.

THAT the study and appreciation of the classics affords much genuine pleasure and sheer amusement can be readily testified by the members of the Athenaeum. Whether it be a survey of Roman holidays and customs or a delving into the history of one of antiquity's famous women, these girls succeed in recreating much of humor, much of dignity and much that is analogous to affairs of our world today.

Brimming with enthusiasm regarding their heritage, these girls recognize—as they plan posters, skits, programs—that “there is nothing new under the sun.” College girls of today are but the Dianas, Minervas, Venuses, Junos, and Vestas of yesterday clad in modern garb. Everything has its counterpart in the culture of the ancients, through which culture “quaerit ad superos viam.”

“A.A.” is a Mary Washington institution . . . because of her, Mary Washington plays, and plays wholesomely and wholeheartedly. . . “A.A.” has flourished over a long span of years, has seen gym suits through from the days of middy blouses and black stockings, has added new sports, and new projects for old ones . . . She is the parent of such organizations as —

WHAT joy, what swiftness, what ease is displayed by these Terrapins as they flash from the diving board to glide through the rippling waters of the pool! Such mastery of strokes and techniques is achieved only as the result of constant practices and endless hours of persistent endeavor, even after muscles and limbs have become quite fatigued.

"Why practice so hard?" you ask. Only because of the exhibitions, the various meets, and the shows such as the spring aquacade, would be the probable reply. In the fascinating grace and interesting skill displayed in the activities of such events one finds ample justification for the ceaseless efforts of M.W.C.'s Terrapins.

THE "Old Dominion" is famous for its beautiful women and beautiful horses. The Hoof Prints Club supplies the former, but their most vital interest is in the latter.

Along about initiation time the aspirants to this organization wander over the campus like strange apparitions—girls dressed "backwards" and riding on broomstick steeds; we are reminded almost of Irving's headless horseman in "The Legend of Sleepy Hollow."

At regular meetings, the members settle down in their cozy clubroom for "confabs" about the spring horseshow, forthcoming gymkhanas, prospective picnics and 'possum hunts. Their interest in equitation brings the riding enthusiasts pleasure and develops in them a fine sense of sportsmanship and comradeship. Such qualities are constant companions of the happy girls who never fail to "hit the trail" at every opportunity.

All That Is, At All, Lasts Ever, Past Recall

May the sixth---the Seniors swing into academic stride.

LOOKING backward over the four years of our college career we have come to realize that time has made the first three years more than a memory for it has made it something past recall. The events of our Senior year are still a part of our nearer memories and at this time they seem more important because they are the happenings which have made up our last year here, our departure year and one that has added preponderance for our class, for the year, 1941, has an added preponderance for the world.

It is enough. A farewell, a very tender farewell to our sister class, to College-mates, to Faculty and Administrators. The memory of you will be like unto a golden treasure locked deeply in the treasure box of our hearts.

RAYNELL GOODMAN,
Class Historian

sixth to June, First!

TIME: The afternoon of June sixth.
PLACE: A spacious lawn.
OCCASION: The Garden Party.
PERSONNEL: A genial host, a gracious lady, and their guests.

Friday evening, the Seniors have "Hay Fever," and like it.

An ambitious camera has its way for a moment and catches a Great Executive on his way to present a Great Speaker—

Dr. Temple Graves, II.

Nothing was so fair that day in June when the Seniors came to the end of the long, long trail that had been a-winding up hill for four long, long years. Thoughtful in mood but happy in heart they marched to the great hall in George Washington where they transferred with hands that trembled a bit, the Tassel from the right side to the left and the significant gesture gave them a new Academic rating.

Mortar Boards top Momentous Moments.

Experienced Workmen from the Academic Shop.

These officials for the Class of '41 slipped out of a dignified processional line just long enough to go into a friendship huddle and to form a friendship circle. They are smiling through but the going apart at last isn't such happy sledding after all. Paths may not cross again.

In the South, It's Southern Dairies Ice Cream

You have heard on the radio . . . read in magazines . . . about the Sealtest System of Laboratory Protection. How its constant aim is to improve the quality and safeguard the purity of ice cream and other dairy products.

This great Dairy Laboratory System supervises every step in the manufacture of SOUTHERN DAIRIES ICE CREAM and in its delicious flavor and delicate texture you actually taste what this means to you.

Southern Dairies Ice Cream is manufactured and distributed in 1,000 cities and towns located in 13 Southern States. It is "The South's Largest Selling Ice Cream." Southern Dairies, plus Sealtest, equals the finest ice cream that money can buy . . .
